Stuph & Thangs

ARITHMETIC IS CONGRESS' WEAKNESS, TOO...

There has been a vast amount of Hue & Cry over the fact that our blessed School Systems know more about how to pluck the Tax Payers than they do about poundin' some readin', writin' & arithmetical into the skulls of the young ones. But, apparently, this failure of the Educational System is no recent development. All you have to do is look around and you find all kinds of weird answers beginnin' to surface.

For instance, the other day someone started speculatin' about how far we was gonna be in 'the hole' if inflation continues its present pace and it is had enough to make you feel like the Storm Cellar with a case of Old Early Cider to sooth your nerves. If price trends of the past five years are maintained, recalls will boggle your mind. Take a peek at this and have a nice quiet shudder:

Low priced car	1977	1978

High priced car	12,000	55,320

Net Build-Up in Cow Herd Is Now Expected in 1980, Reduction in Numbers in 1978 1 1/2 to 2 Million

Denver - The rate of cow slaughter compared with a year earlier is now showing, but there still will be a further decrease this year in the size of the nation's cow herd. It appears that a net build-up in the cow herd will not occur until 1980. These observations were made by economists with CattleFax, the market analysis service associated with the National Cattlemen's Assn., as they reported cow slaughter estimates for the first nine months of 1978.

In one of its periodic reports on cow slaughter and cow herd size, NCA said that cow slaughter in August totaled 707,000 head, or 16% less than a year earlier. Cow slaughter in September was estimated at 650,000 head, or 26% less than in the same month last year.

Cow slaughter through September totaled an estimated 6,458,000 head, which represents a decrease of 8% from a year earlier. Cow slaughter during the first half of 1978 was only 5% less than in the first six months of 1977, CattleFax noted. However, the second half of the year is likely to show a decrease of 20% from a year earlier, apparently in response to improved conditions as well as moisture and feed conditions in some parts of the country, the cow slaughter rate is now slowing, and it is not currently showing a normal seasonal increase, the economists said.

With this slowing of slaughter rate, total cow slaughter in 1978 is now estimated at 8.8 million head, compared with 9.9 million in 1977 and a peak cow slaughter of 11.8 million in 1975.

The CattleFax analysts said this year's cow slaughter will fall by enough to cut the nation's cow herd to 2 million head. Cow numbers are expected to total 17 to 18 million head, compared with 19.5 million a year earlier and 20.5 million a year earlier in 1975.

It now appears that the herd reduction phase of the cattle cycle may end during 1979, the CattleFax analysts said. Slaughter of cows and other non-feed animals will continue to decrease if producers respond to higher cattle prices and begin to rebuild their herds. However, the total cattle herd and the cow herd on Jan. 1, 1980, may not be much, if any, larger than on Jan. 1, 1979. It will take a sustained period of profitability to stimulate a rebuilding of herds, the economists pointed out.

Concern has been expressed that the industry is over liquidating, said Richard A. McDougal, NCA president. "That could be. However, we also know that continued rapid cost inflation has put an entirely new element into the cattle cycle picture. This includes inflation of costs at the farm and ranch level plus inflation of labor and other costs involved in processing and distributing beef (which affect the share of the retail beef dollar available to the farmer).

If cattlemen are to have adequate returns in the next few years, it may take smaller per capita beef supplies, and higher beef and cattle prices, than otherwise would be the case, McDougal said.

Fed Cattle, Hogs Easier at Most Major Markets in Monday Trading

Around the major terminal markets on Monday most points reported fed steers and heifers selling steady to somewhat lower, exceptions were those markets which are compared with the previous week's sales and which had little or no change in the week. Hogs sold lower at most markets by 25-cents to $1. Estimated Monday cattle slaughter was 9,000 below last week and 16,000 below a year ago. Estimated hog kill at 801,000 was 4,000 above last week and 6,000 above a year earlier. Price trends, quotations on choice and prime steers and heifers and the mixed good and choice kinds and U.S. 1-3 hogs scaling mostly 200 to 280 pounds included:

Omaha steers 25-50c lower, heifers weak to 60c lower. Steers 54.25-55.75 and 54.00-54.50; heifers 51.50-53.00 and 51.00-51.50. Hogs 25-50c lower at 50.00-51.50. Sioux Falls fed cattle slow, 50c lower. Steers 53.00-54.00 and 51.75-53.00; heifers 51.00-52.50 and 49.50-51.00. Hogs 50-75c lower at 51.00-52.00.

Hogs 75c to 1.00 lower at 49.00-51.50. Kansas City steers 25-50c over last Monday, heifers steady to weak. Choice steers 53.00-53.50 and choice heifers 51.00-51.75. Cow Slaughter

Total cattle slaughter in the first nine months of 1978 is estimated at 29.8 million head, or 5% less than a year earlier. Increases in fed cattle slaughter have made up for much of the decrease in cow and other non-fed slaughter. As a result, total beef output is down only 4% from a year earlier. It appears that increased demand (dollar expenditures) meet, along with timely cattle marketing, has helped bring cattle prices which are substantially higher than a year earlier.

Cattlemen's Round-Up Horse Sale Oct. 7

With the 19th annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children which benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center getting off to a record start at the sale, the attention now centers on yet another important sale. Horses from all sections of the state of Texas, including many registered quarter horses, have been pledged to the Center's horse sale which is set for p.m. Saturday, October 7, at Abilene Auction, Inc.

Center personnel are now in the process of rounding up additional horses for this sale which last year raised more than $15,000 to help provide services for handicapped individuals from all over the Southwest.

Shirley V. Smith, executive director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, said: "We were most pleased and surprised with the outstanding response of our friends and supporters in helping us raise more than $153,000 during our September 25 cattle sale."

And now we look to our friends for their help in donating horses for our October 7 sale.

Smith went on to say, "Another important part of our annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children is the Oct. 4 sale at 1 p.m. at the Coleman Livestock Auction, where we will be selling some late arriving cattle, sheep, goats and a number of specialty items."

Smith added that he hoped the record response to the Round-Up would continue throughout the next two sales and reminded friends and supporters that the Center, in addition to livestock, also needs cash donations toward the Round-Up. Going into the Sept. 25 cattle sale, the Center was faced with a budget deficit of $225,000, so even with the record-breaking cattle sale, more funds are still needed to get the Center back on the solid footing in funds to operate its three campuses in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder.

Anyone wishing to pledge livestock or cash should contact his area chairman or the West Texas Rehabilitation Center campus nearest him.

JOHN QUINN

John Quinn, LaGrange, Texas, was recently hired by COBA as Field Representative for the East Central and South Texas area. Charles Gollightly, Director of COBA's Southwest Area Division, states that Quinn's main responsibilities in his assigned area will be to coordinate the activities of the cooperative's A. L. programs of service.

Direct Feedlot Trade Extremely Dull At All Areas Monday

John and his wife, Janis, have five children. Jeffrey is a veterinarian at Canyon Lake; Pamela sells real estate, is married and lives in Austin; Mark is also a veterinarian, married, and works for the Valley View Cattle Company in Mesquite; Jim is a seminary student in Dallas and Jon Allan is a Junior in high school and helps at home with the family's small beef herd.

BRANGUS For Feeder Calf Profits.

Black Baldies, (Brangus/Hereford crosses), are in strong demand by feeders and bring top market prices for you!

Black Baldies are an ideal feeder animal. Ask any commercial cowman about the great calves with "a little ear". Medium-sized at birth, they make calving easy for any type of cow. They gain quickly on feed or forage, and average 75 to 100 pounds heavier at weaning than English breeds.

Brangus feeders mean fewer problems for the operator because they are adaptable to climactic extremes and are pest and disease resistant. But most important, Brangus feeders are consistently PROFITABLE. They lay down internal fat early and finish early with enough marbling to grade choice. Brangus calves are preferred—by stockers, feeders, packers, and consumers. If you want PROFIT, you need BRANGUS!

For information about scheduled events, upcoming sales, and sale catalogs, call collect: Lauren Mayhew, Secretary, Texas Brangus Breeders Association, P.O. Box 570, Sealy, Texas 77474. Tel: (713) 885-3364.

Replacement Cattle Prices Were Uneven Last Week in See-Saw Trade

St. Joseph, Sept. 29 (USA) — National feeder cattle and calf receipts this week 298,400, compared with 295,800 last week and 270,000 a year ago. Considerable unevenness developed in the pricing structure for feeder cattle and calves as marketings continued to expand. Feeder buyers reflected some of the uncertainty created by the up and down movement in the slaughter steer and heifer market, and wide discrepancies in trends developed from one area to another.

Prices for feeder cattle and calves along the river averaged steady to as much as 8.00 lower, instances 4.00 off in Kansas City on steers over 800 lbs.; however, in Omaha, at the late week sale, prices moved steady, instances 50-1.00 higher on 750-850 lb. steers. West Fargo was steady to 2.00 higher and St. Joseph had calves steady to 1.00 higher.

Oklahoma City and Amarillo were mostly steady except under 550 lbs. in Oklahoma City 50-1.00 higher but Dodge City was 50-2.00 lower with 50-1.00 higher.

For further information contact Bart Rayburn, 405/785-2298; Jerry Arthur, 405/222-0436 or 222-0550; or Charlie Brown, 405/222-0330.

calves 3.00-5.00 off. Springfield, Mo., was 1.00-3.00 off, instances 4.00 lower on steer calves while Arkansas was weak to 2.00 lower.

Loss figured steady. Tennessee and Kentucky were steady to 3.00 higher. In the southeast, prices were steady to 2.00 higher, instances 3.00 up except Florida was 2.00-4.00 lower and some heifers in Alabama were 1.00 lower. In the far west and mountain states, feeders moved steady to 1.00 lower for the most part, while calves sold steady to firm.

National Red Poll Show, Sale, Meeting Slated Oct. 27-28

The 1978 National Red Poll Show, National Red Poll Sale and the Ninety-Sixth annual meeting of the American Red Poll Association will be held in Shreveport on Oct. 27-28 in connection with the State Fair of Louisiana, according to John F. Hunsicker, Jr., of Shreveport. Hunsicker, Shreveport businessman and rancher, is a longtime director and the current president of the near century-old Red Poll organization.

Red Poll breeders from 20 states are expected to attend the three events, Hunsicker said. The annual meeting is open to the public, he emphasized, and any cattle people interested in observing how a breed organization reviews its work and business and governs itself are invited to sit in.

The national show will be judged during the forenoon of October 27 and 28 by Dr. Randall Grooms of the Texas agricultural extension service. The annual meeting will be in the Chateau Motor Hotel during the afternoon of Friday the 27th. The sale will occur at the fairgrounds on the afternoon of Saturday the 28th, following the conclusion of judging that morning.

The show has attracted entries of 120 head of Red Poll cattle from the eight states of Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Nebraska, Ohio, Tennessee, and Texas, according to Ray V. Forester, director of agriculture and livestock for the fair. This makes the Red Poll show the second largest beef cattle show to be on the fairgrounds this year, Hunsicker added.

Sixty-four lots of registered Red Poll cattle have been consigned and cataloged for the sale, including some of the finest specimens of this breed, Hunsicker believes. Catalogs are available from American Red Poll Association, 8275 Holdrege St., Lincoln, Nebraska 68508. The telephone is 402-466-2591.

Cosponsoring the three Red Poll national events in addition to the association and the state fair board, is the Louisiana Red Poll Cattle Association. Ray Houser, DeRidder, La., is president of the state group. R. T. "Barney" Heard of Dry Creek is secretary.

National Western Expands Program To 10-Day Show

Denver — With the National Western Stock Show expanding to a 10-day run here Jan. 11-20, 1979, show general manager Charles Sylvester anticipates record entries and attendance for the 73rd year of the International Livestock exposition. To set new records, the 1979 show must top 1977 highs of 242,020 in attendance and 5,143 in individual livestock exhibits.

The National Western, which traditionally has opened on Friday, will get underway on Thursday next year to accommodate the increasing number of entries and ease demands for stall space. Also, a rodeo-horse show performance has been added at 8 p.m. Jan. 11, bringing to 20 the total of Coliseum performances.

Of approximately $548 million spent in exhibitors' buying ventures in 1977, some $472 million went into dry holes.

Survey Indicates Farmers Favor Less Regulation

Illustrating an increasing demand for less government intervention, almost 80% of the respondents in a recent survey by International Harvester's Farm Forum magazine said they were not in favor of a national water policy that would set guidelines for water use and quality. And of the 544 people responding, it was noted that water use should be controlled or regulated, 50% believed that the allocations or decisions should be made at the local level of government.

Paragon First PB Marchigiana Bull In Arkansas

Lindale, Texas — Bud and Kelly Lester's Markey Distributors, Inc., of Lindale, announced the recent purchase of half interest and possession of the purebred Marchigiana bull, Paragon, by Earl, Carol, Don and Donnie Shoeman of Cove, Arkansas.

Paragon, at two years of age, weighs 1800 pounds in pasture condition and is breeding the Shoeman's herd of 35 registered Angus cattle and their percentage Markey cattle.

Carol and Donnie have already participated in the showing of "Nocelo," Markey Distributor's 3,000-pound Marchigiana bull, at the Iowa State Fair this August, and have shown "Paragon" at the Moss County Fair in Arkansas.

Both Paragon and Nocelo will be shown by the Lesters and Shoemans at the Arkansas State Fair Sept. 29 through Oct. 3, and Nocelo will be entered in the Texas State Fair Oct. 6 and on exhibit Oct. 8.

Paragon's first calves will be born in November at Markey Distributors in Lindale, Texas, and at the Shoemans in Cove, Ark.

Select Replacement Heifers To Calve Early For Profits

College Station — Selecting replacement heifers is one of the most critical management decisions a cow-calf producer has to make. The key consideration should be to select heifers that will calve early their first year and reproduce regularly.

"The whole aspect of a successful beef operation hinges on effective selection of replacement heifers," contends Dr. John Spitzer, area livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Heifers which calve early will continue to calve early throughout the productive lives. They normally have fewer rebreeding problems, produce more calves during their lifetimes, and wean more pounds of calf per year than late-calving cows." Heifers which fail to reach puberty early in their first breeding season cannot be bred early and consequently decrease the efficiency of the entire beef herd, he says. The Texas A.M. University System specialist. An alternative is to calve heifers as three-year-olds, but few cattlemen can afford this luxury.

"Heifer calve near two years of age, a heifer will have reached puberty by 18 to 18 months," explains Spitzer. "Heifers of most breeds will reach puberty by this age provided they have sufficient weight. Exceptions include Brahman and Brahman crossbred heifers which may need 15 to 20 months to reach puberty."

The livestock specialist emphasizes that replacement heifers should be selected individually. "Averages won't get the job done. If you want 50 percent of your heifers in heat early in the breeding season, each heifer needs to reach the weight necessary to bring on puberty. This can only be done by selecting heifers into management groups and feeding accordingly."

How should replacement heifers be managed? "First of all, weigh each heifer at weaning," advises Spitzer. Then set a target weight for that heifer to reach by breeding time. Sort heifers into two or more groups depending on the range in weights and weight gains needed to reach the target weights. Weigh heifers periodically during the feeding period. Finally, select those pregnant early in the breeding season to increase the reproductive performance of the beef herd."

Farm Equipment Makers Endorse Safety Education

Chicago — "We are happy to see the way of farmers is as much a concern to Congress as it is to us," observed Emmett Barker, executive secretary of the Farm and Industrial Equipment Institute, the national trade association for farm equipment manufacturers. Barker's remarks were made today following reports of the joint Senate-House Budget Conference Committee has returned to the USDA budget slightly over $1 million for state extension safety leaders deleted earlier this year.

"These funds are badly needed to continue the considerable progress already made in the establishment of safety education programs for rural America," Barker said. "Not only the agricultural worker but the entire family benefits as well; the state extension safety leader is the key to the success of this overall effort," he stated.

Barker pointed out "OSHA can pass regulations, our industry can install guards and shields, but the real payoff in reduced accidents comes from safety education. Frankly, there is no question in the minds of those connected with the safety education that funds invested in safety education pay far greater returns than dollars spent on regulation."

"We and others concerned with farm safety worked many long months to inform our lawmakers of the need for such an allocation. We believe this is a sound investment of public funds. The continued well-being of the American farmer will help assure this nation the abundant supply of wholesome food it presently enjoys."

Hon and management of replacement heifers, he provides this outline:

1. Retain only heifers with heavy adult weaning weights.
2. Retain more heifers than needed for replacements.
3. Do not attempt to select heifers on type or "femininity."
4. Remove heifers with abnormal shapes of structural defects.
5. Determine the weights of heifers at weaning, the number of days from weaning to expected breeding, and the desired weights at breeding time.
6. Calculate the necessary rate of gain from weaning to breeding and sort heifers into two or more groups according to these figures.
7. Feed heifers to grow at the calculated level, checking their progress periodically. Each heifer needs to reach the target weight by the start of the breeding season.
8. Retain replacements from heifers conceiving during the first 45 days of the breeding season.

Top Breeder Speaks At Brahman Clinic

Ward Merrick III will be one of the featured speakers at Brahman Clinic V in Houston, Texas, Nov. 8-11. Merrick, owner of Merrick Farms, Ardmore, Oklahoma, will talk on the marketing of purebred cattle at the national Brahman clinic.

Ward Merrick III is recognized as one of the best merchandisers of seedstock cattle in the United States. In 1977, Merrick Farms sold over $1,000,000 worth of breeding cattle and is well on the way to doing it again this year. Merrick's operation is involved in the production of Simmental cattle but his marketing philosophy has been used successfully with other breeds. He is currently experimenting with Simmental-Brahman cross cattle and is enthusiastic about the potential of the cross.

Merrick is the president of the Oklahoma Simmental Association, on the board of directors of the American Simmental Association, and involved in many other organizations in and out of the cattle business. The surprising thing about all these accomplishments is the fact that Ward Merrick III is 28 years old. He has an extensive background in the cattle business that includes an Agricultural Economic degree from Oklahoma State University. He was a representative for the Simmental Breed for three years before going into the production of breeding cattle. In 1978, Ward Merrick was named "Man of the Year" in the Simmental Breeds.

Merrick Farms has been one of the leaders in the marketing and promotion of beef breeding cattle for several years. It combined one of the most effective advertising and communications programs in the industry with a reputation for outstanding breeding cattle to become one of the top producers of seedstock cattle in North America.

Booming Growth Of Texas Agriculture Seen In Census

Huge gains in Texas agriculture during 1969-74 put the state near the top rank in such key farm measures as value of farm products sold (third in the Nation), number and value of cattle, cotton production, and total of sheep and horses, according to a review of the data by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

The changes are reflected in comparisons of already published data from the five-year farm censuses conducted by the Bureau for 1949 and 1974. The review, offering a significant perspective of trends in farm methods, products and income, is to be updated with the 1974 Census of Agriculture in January 1979.

In 1974, Texas farms and ranches sold $5.6 billion worth of farm products, a 1949-74 gain of 222 percent, to place Texas third to California and Iowa. Texas farms produced 13.3 million pounds of cattle and calves in 1974, up 71 percent over the quarter-century to 7.7 million pounds in 1949.

Texas also led all states in horses and ponies — 143,900 in 1974 — and had the most sheep and lambs in 1974 — 18,700 more than 8 million. It was also the 1974 leader in cattle, fattened on grain or concentrate (4.2 million) and had the most farms (174,068), any state even after a 48 percent decline in the quarter century. The average size of farms rose from 439 to 771 acres.

Texas remained first in cotton acreage in 1974 despite a sharp decline from 10.5 million acres in 1949 to 4.4 million in '74. Its production of 2.5 million bales led the Nation in 1974, with Lubbock third among U. S. counties with 244,000 acres producing 168,000 bales.

The State also is now the leader in peach trees with 1.5 million that produced 17.5 million pounds in 1974. It also led in sorghum for grain, 5.5 million acres and 265.8 million bushels, and in watermelons with 1.5 million acres.

In 1974 Texas ranked second in the Nation in irrigated crop land, in acres of peanuts and grapefruit, and second in rice production.

The farm census, which today provides the only U. S. set of uniform agricultural data at the county level, covers 17 principal farm information ranging from acreage and machinery to fertilizer and fuel storage.

'Democracy in Action' Has Special Meaning For Farmer Cooperatives During Observance

Farmer cooperatives, perhaps more than any other, have a special interest in the 1978 Cooperative Month theme, "Cooperatives—Democracy in Action." That's because the theme describes how cooperatives operate. It proclaims that the farmers who are the owners really control the cooperative.

During the October observance, farmer cooperatives will emphasize that they are truly "Democracy in Action" because—

- 1. Farmers Establish Their Cooperatives. Cooperatives are established when farmers recognize a need for services that they don't have. By going together, and investing some of their own money for initial capital, farmers can realize the benefits of group selling and buying.
- 2. Farmers Control Their Cooperatives. Cooperatives are controlled by a board of directors elected by farmers who own and use the business. The farmer directors set policies and employ a manager and oversee the day-to-day operation of the cooperative.
- 3. Farmers Realize Savings From Their Cooperatives. Cooperatives are run to help members get a better return from farming. Unlike most other businesses, cooperatives are operated for the benefit of their members.

Each of the efficiency for which American farmer is renowned has been provided through his cooperatives. They have had to expand and grow to effectively compete with large companies in agribusiness and the food industry. This growth has helped America's family farmers maintain their independence.

Without their cooperatives, many could not produce as efficiently and be able to at the present. Any kind of efficiency would serve neither the family farmer, nor the consumer, nor the cause of free enterprise.

Texas Select Hereford Bull Sale Jan. 28

"One of the best sets of Hereford bulls put together in one sale will be offered in our Jan. 28, 1979, Texas Select Bull Sale," said Jack Chastain, Secretary-Manager of the Texas Hereford Association recently.

Chastain has just returned from a tour with the selection committee to inspect the bulls nominated to the Select Bull Sale. The selection committee was composed of Chastain; Palmer Willis, Odessa, President of the Texas Hereford Association; James Grotz, manager of Granite Hills Hereford Ranch in Lingo and Sale Committee chairman; and Tom Coppel, manager of the Double U Hereford Ranch at Post.

Members of the committee said they were well impressed with the quality of the bulls nominated and that they saw bulls they would be happy to own personally. The bulls are consigned by breeders throughout the state representing top Hereford bloodlines from well-known Hereford breeding establishments.

The sale is sponsored by the Texas Hereford Association and will be held in Fort Worth on Saturday, Jan. 28, immediately following the Association's annual Commercial Hereford Hoffer sale. Chastain said that as soon as consignors to the sale are notified of their acceptance, names will be announced.

The sale bulls will be penned along with the show cattle during the Fort Worth Show for inspection.

1st All-Polled Sale Of Simmentals Set At Ft. Worth Show

The first all-polled purebred Simmental sale in the U. S. will be held Feb. 3, 1979 at the Fort Worth Southwestern Exposition Stock Show.

John B. Collier IV, secretary of the sponsoring Texas Simmental Association, said only the top 50 purebred Simmentals nominated from across the country will be accepted for sale.

Blonde D'Aquitaine cattle from eight states and Canada met here Aug. 6 to reform the National Blonde D'Aquitaine Foundation. Elected to serve as an interim Board of Directors until the first general membership meeting are: Gary Critchfield, Payson, UT; Mike England, North Platte, NE; George Johnson, Chadron, NE; Bob Baker, Mountain Home, ID; Greg Nielsen, Merriman, NE.

The purpose of the group will be to promote and register Blonde D'Aquitaine cattle.
